CLUBHOUSE PLANS ARE EXHIBITED

Tuesday Afternoon Club
Members See Drawing of Home.

DESIGN IS ADOPTED

Expenditure of About $60,000 Indicated by the Architect

Vying in interest with the program to be given by the Parliamentary law section were the plans of the proposed home of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which were on display at the meeting on Tuesday. So attractive were they that when the president, Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, presented the recommendation of the executive board and building committee that the club endorse the plans and instruct the board to proceed to build such a clubhouse, the vote, which followed the motion of Mrs. Champton, was unanimously in the affirmative.

Mrs. Hutchinson stated that business men who were consulted advised the building committee not to cripple the club by cutting down the plans, and financiers had agreed to supply the money it will be necessary for the club to borrow. The final plans as approved by the building committee and club call for an expenditure of about $60,000.

The elevation displayed at the meeting showed a building of Spanish type consisting of a main entrance, auditorium and stage, two stories in height, with a gabled tile-roof one-story wing running south to the corner of Lexington and Central, where a semi-circular walk led to entrances on the Central avenue and Lexington drive ends of the building.

The entire north end of the building will be occupied by the two-story auditorium and its vestibule, the seating capacity of the main floor being supplemented by balconies. In the wing running south, provision is made for a banquet hall seating 300, out of which will open a parlor and tea room which can be thrown into it, increasing its capacity to 600. A convenient kitchen has been

BOND ELECTION DATE FIXED TONIGHT

Board of High School to Decide Upon Early Election

Members of the high school board of trustees met Tuesday evening prior to the mass meeting and after a short session adjourned to meet tonight. The request of the Home Visitation organization for the use of the school auditorium the evening of March 30, was granted, and plans for the buildings on the new high school site were discussed with Architect Austin.

The chief business of the meeting tonight will be the fixing of a date for the election to vote bonds in the sum of $600,000 for high school buildings. It will be set for the earliest possible day that no time may be lost.

WELL ARMED NEWS BOY IS ARRESTED

Just why does a newsboy require a bowie knife to assist him in selling evening papers is one of the questions that Ronald C. Owens will be required to answer to Chief of Police John Fraser today. He was arrested by Patrolman Epps and taken to the police station yesterday afternoon for carrying a knife larger than prescribed by law in a sheath on his belt. At the police station he was relieved of his knife and ordered to appear before Chief of Police Fraser today.

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL
SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Discussion of means of forwarding the labor movement continued at today's session of the annual convention of the California building trades council here.

Mrs. C. H. Godfrey, representing the department of labor, discussed illiteracy at yesterday's session. She declared Los Angeles had the largest number of illiterates in the state. More attention by labor to education was urged.

ARBuckle DEFENSE FIGHTS
SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle's attorneys today were striving to assume the offensive in the big comedian's third trial on charges of having taken Virginia Rappe's life.

Valuable Lessons From Alphabet Says Mr. Foley

The remarkable and valuable features of the alphabet are told today in the "Listening Post" by Mr. Foley. To one alphabet or another we are holding for records of history, says Mr. Foley. In fact, he says many things today that cause one to think.

Dr. Frank Crane gives a little story on the self-conceit, self-sufficiency of self-excite that are relied upon by many to make allowance for their faults. "It is easy," he says, "to say with the rest of the congregation, 'We are sinners,' but that it is another thing to mention aloud the particular sin that we have committed."

In his talks on the "Comments of the Day" Henry James enumerates a few congressional expenditures that could be very well eliminated in the interest of economy. His remarks are right to the point.

GLENDALE SHRINE CLUB TO HIKE TO PASADENA

Members Sign Up for Long Pilgrimage to Crown City

Members of the Shrine club of Glendale are responding with enthusiasm to the invitation to attend the great banquet and ball which is being given tonight by the Shrine club of Pasadena at the Maryland hotel. It has been pronounced the biggest social event of the year in the Crown city and the Glendale Shriners are determined to be well represented. About forty members and friends will go from here, the delegation including, of course, President "CHIT" Neale and most of his brother officers.

A separate section has been allotted to the Glendale club and those who have not sent acceptances can attend by simply presenting themselves as members of the Glendale organization.

It will be a grand feed, a grand ball with grand entertainment features which are likely to keep the guests until the wee sma' hours. "CHIT" has promised to tell all about it tomorrow.

CHARLES ALBECK STRUCK BY AUTO IN LOS ANGELES

Stepping From Car He Is Knocked Down and Seriously Injured

Struck by a speeding automobile as he alighted from a Los Angeles bound street car this morning at Glendale boulevard and Alvarado, Charles Albeck, 431 Laclede avenue this city, was seriously injured. He was taken to the emergency hospital and given first aid. Later he was removed to the county hospital.

Officials of the Los Angeles detective bureau telephoned to the Glendale police department and asked that the department here locate Mrs. Albeck and notify her of the accident to her husband.

According to the nurse at the receiving hospital, Mr. Albeck received a serious injury to his head when he was struck by the machine. The nurse said that while the injury is extremely painful and serious there is little danger of it proving fatal.

DR. ECKLES GETS BELOVED AUTO BACK

Joy reigns supreme in the Glendale health department this morning. Dr. J. E. Eckles has found his car, which was stolen Monday afternoon from in front of his office at 125 North Brand boulevard. The car was located by a driver for the Glendale laundry, who saw it standing at the side of the road near Tuljunga yesterday afternoon. The information was given to the Glendale police and the car returned to Dr. Eckles.

According to the laundry man the car was standing at the side of the road, where it had been abandoned by the thief or thieves. One rear wheel was mired in the soft dirt at the edge on the road. In speaking of the return of Dr. Eckles' car this morning Judge Lowe said to him, "Doctor, you're the luckiest man in the city hall. If anyone else had lost his car it would have been gone forever."

JAP ARMY UN CUT
TOKIO, March 22.—The fight for heavy reductions in the Japanese army has been abandoned in the Diet until the summer session, leaders announced today.

PROTECTION FOR NEW SEWER UNIT IS ORDERED

Restaurants Must Install
Grease Traps Before
Connecting

After a conference this morning of city health officials, building inspection department officials and City Engineer Hill with City Manager W. H. Reeves it was announced all restaurants in the business district of the city that are planning on making connections with the newly accepted sewer unit in that district would be required to install grease traps at the rear of their places to prevent the coating of the walls of the connection pipes and cesspools with grease and waste kitchen matter.

Under the old system of disposal each restaurant and other business house had its own cesspool and grease traps were not required. The new system is a series of cesspools in the alleys at the rear of the business blocks. These cesspools are connected by a pipe line and the direct connection with the system of the cesspools formerly used for disposal is made through a six-inch main. The permitting of raw grease and waste matter to run through these pipes and connections would soon cover the pipes with a thick coating of grease, according to Building Inspector E. J. Spaulding, and would require the endless task of opening up the pools and connections to clean them out.

According to Mr. Spaulding it is planned to require each restaurant to install a grease trap between the kitchen and the first cesspool to catch this waste matter. This trap can be emptied at intervals by removing the screening and cleansing it.

Mr. Spaulding in explaining the proposal said that this grease trap could be easily turned into an item of revenue. He said that in practically all of the cities of the east the waste that is caught in the grease traps is sold to soap manufacturers and in some cases the cleaning of the trap is handled by the soap manufacturer purchasing the grease.

STRIKE MENACE STIRS PRESIDENT AND LABOR

President Appeals to Operators and Miners to Settle Differences

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A public appeal by President Harding to coal operators and miners to settle their differences and avoid a nation-wide suspension of work April 1, may be made within a week.

It was learned authoritatively today that Harding is inclined toward such a move as a final effort to draw the belligerent operators into a national peace conference and enhance the chances of settlement in all districts.

President Harding has consulted Attorney General Daugherty, it was learned, to find what steps he might take toward backing up the move he made in inviting the belligerent operators to conference. Daugherty told him, according to reliable information, that he knew of no legal steps that might be taken by any agent of the government before the fuel supply of the nation is imperiled by the walkout.

MINERS ARE UNANIMOUS
NEW YORK, March 22.—The great coal strike called for midnight, March 31, will be 100 per cent effective, officials of the United Mine Workers of America declared here today.

Reports from the anthracite and bituminous fields throughout the United States indicate that virtually every one of the 600,000 miners will obey the order to suspend work.

President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, who issued the order here yesterday, believes there will be no rebel movement in the union ranks. He asserted the 90,000 miners in Illinois would quit with the rest, despite the fact that President Frank R. Fackler of the Illinois miners is quoted here as calling Lewis' action premature.

The mine union officials are going ahead with plans for the great walkout, just as if there were no chance of federal intervention or possible settlement of the trouble in any mine district.

MEN ARE FIRM
INDIANAPOLIS, March 22.—Half a million members of the United Mine Workers and thousands of non-union miners, will declare an indefinite holiday at midnight March 31.

Following orders of their union chiefs, mailed out from headquarters here late yesterday, both anthracite and bituminous fields will be tied up. The Canadian miners will walk out too, except in Nova Scotia, where wage negotiations are in progress.

$600,000 SCHOOL BOND ISSUE CALL AUTHORIZED BY CITIZENS MEETING

Slight Opposition Develops From Residents of Grand View Foothill District But Vote Is Unanimous

WEST SIDE SITE IS PROPOSED AT MEETING

Trustees Instructed to Investigate the Merits of Gardner Tract Consisting of Twenty Acres for Next High School

Out of a medley of speeches revealing sectional ambitions, the $600,000 bond issue for a new high school for Glendale was approved by the mass meeting at the high school last night, of which Dr. Jessie Russell was the chairman, elected from the floor.

Of the board of trustees, Capt. Thos. D. Watson was president, with Principal Moyse and the secretary of the board on the platform. Capt. Watson explained in opening the meeting that President Brown, who would ordinarily call the meeting to order, had been called away on a case. Capt. Watson therefore opened the meeting.

The meeting, which was expected to draw a large attendance, revealed the sympathy of Glendale with the problems of the trustees negatively. There was a scant 50 in the audience. Had there been opposition the auditorium would have been crowded.

The high note of the sentiment of the meeting after the decision to instruct the board to proceed with the calling of a bond election, was given by Dr. Russell when she called on Glendale to get behind the bond issue, to get behind a constructive school policy for the city, to get behind the sentiment revealed by the speakers, for the acquisition of other high school sites now, before values advance.

She declared the city could not be staid, and a big, growing

Own Your Own Home

The moment of setting out on the road to home-ownership has more kick parked within the confines of the tiny sixty ticks of the clock than any other experience in life—because the mind has come through apprehension to the fair ground of anticipation and it is on strange ground—entering a new mode of living.

The family that feels it cannot watch the drift of pennies out of the family purse is filled with dread of failing to meet payments, foreclosure and evils attendant thereto.

Yet year in and out, good and bad, such a family has met rent day. Unless that family starts home buying it will continue to buy shelter in thirty-day blocks.

For those who have not organized their lives financially, the idea of such a thing is almost hopeless, for habit is strong.

For them there is a clean-cut formula, simple as it is easy to remember, prepared two hundred or more years ago by a frugal American, a printer by trade, named Ben Franklin.

He set forth in a little volume, now unobtainable, that a shilling earned is a form of property which should never be allowed to depart. To hold the shilling it is only necessary to employ it.

To buy something of the value of a shilling with a shilling is to merely change the shilling into another form readily convertible back into its original form with its purchasing power unchanged.

To spend it for anything less than a shilling impoverishes its owner—more, loses him the earning power of the shilling which extends through the centuries ahead. The shilling itself is a small loss compared to its earning power which goes with it in a poor purchase. He regarded the loss of the earning power as a calamity.

The philosophy of this being, when applied to home owning, that during the period of paying for the home, nothing should be bought that does not represent exactly the value of the money expended in a concrete form that can be readily turned back into hard money. If it does not meet this criterion the purchase contemplated is forbidden.

With this idea fixed in the mind, all budget systems, all agonizing household account keeping can be safely junked.

For economy of expenditure will come with concentration of the mind of the family upon getting value for money spent, in convertible goods—on the retaining of every dollar earned in some tangible form. To spend it for anything less than a dollar's worth is not only to impoverish the owner by a dollar but to impoverish him through the loss of the earning power of that dollar through all his life. To spend it foolishly is therefore seen to be a disaster. More than a dollar is spent when a dollar passes without a dollar's value being received. The dollar has gone to work for some one else.

This idea fixed during the period of paying for a home will pay large interest in thrift long years after the home is paid for and becomes only an incident in thrifty fruitful lives.

HOME VISITATION WORK PROGRESSES IN GLENDALE

House to House Canvass
Is in Progress Over the City

Glendale is participating in the Home Visitation movement which is international in character and in which all the religious denominations, Protestants, Catholics and Jews, are uniting. The purpose is to visit every home leaving printed invitations inviting people to attend the church and Sunday school of their choice, also to secure records of church connections and choice.

J. Shreve Durham of Chicago, international superintendent of Home Visitation, has been secured to direct the work in this city. Headquarters will be at the chamber of commerce where a meeting will be held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The plan will then be presented in a brief address by Mr. Durham and discussed by local leaders making such changes as they feel will make it better fit the local situation.

The local committee includes C. W. Ingledue, general chairman; Harry Girard and Julius Kranz, general vice chairmen; John Kamp-house general chairman of conservation; Jesse Smith, general chairman of districts; Rex C. Kelley, general chairman of classification. The pastor's committee includes the following: Rev. Ernest E. Ford (Baptist); Rev. James S. O'Neill (Catholic); Rev. Clifford Cole (Christian); Rev. C. H. Calderwood (Congregational); Rev. George H. Cornwell (Episcopal); S. Berman (Jewish); Rev. H. C. Funk (Lutheran); Rev. C. M. Crist, Rev. V. Hunter Brink, Rev. H. G. Preston, Rev. J. C. Livingston, Rev. Carl C. Seitter (Methodist); Rev. W. E. Edmonds, Rev. J. C. Blue, Rev. Louis Tinning (Presbyterian); Rev. E. L. Neff (Seventh Day Adventist).

The local committee also includes the following representatives of religious organizations: Sunday school superintendents: Roy L. Kent, O. E. Von Oven, Floyd Mercer, Mrs. Philip S. Ber-nays, Mrs. W. P. Martin, J. H. Nickman, A. W. Tower, James L. Brown, John Camphouse, George W. Tyrrell, H. L. Finlay and E. J. Fry.

J. H. Garmsey represents the brotherhoods; Rex C. Kelley the Y. M. C. A.; Fred Huesman the Knights of Columbus, Sara E. Polard the Protestant women, Mrs. Peter M. Moore the Catholic women, Mrs. Joe Goldstein the Jewish women, Richardson D. White and Geo. U. Moyse, education, Mayor Spencer Robinson civic interests, V. M. Hollister, chamber of commerce, Robert Hamilton, labor.

ORGAN OF HOLY FAMILY CHURCH IS TESTED

Harry Girard Found Playing New Instrument
in Silent Church

Residents in the neighborhood of Elk and Louise were delightedly surprised by unexpected sounds of heavenly music Tuesday noon. An enterprising Press reporter followed the sounds to the Holy Family Catholic church and up the stairs to the organ loft, where Harry Girard was discovered seated at the keyboard of the splendid new $7500 organ which is being installed. The pipes which make such an imposing screen were not in place but the organ was there and Mr. Girard. In spite of the fact that the instrument has not received the tuning and overhauling which it is to have on Friday, he was able to flood the church with rich melody which proved the splendid tone of the instrument.

Presently he broke into song appropriate to the scene. As he played and manipulated the levers with his feet the doors or vestibules of sound in a cabinet-looking structure in the corner of the loft mysteriously opened and shut as the volume increased or diminished. The reporter discovered it is a fascinating thing to be behind the scenes with an organ, especially with such an organist as Harry Girard.

Not the least interesting note in connection with this organ toward which Mr. Girard has made a large donation independent of the money he has raised by the twilight concerts at the Glendale theatre, is the fact that it is a California product, viz., a Robert Brunton organ, manufactured at Van Nuys. Harry C. Sturges of 314 East Elk, this city, is the secretary of the company.

The organ will be used for the first time in the church service next Sunday morning. It will eventually be equipped with all the attachments possible to secure, including a set of chimes.

High Trustees Act on Bond Issue Call

Members of the high school board of trustees, and that means Dr. H. V. Brown, president; Daniel Campbell, Mrs. Blanch Gardner, H. W. Yarrick and Captain Thomas D. Watson, are meeting tonight at the high school, determined that no grass shall be allowed to grow under their feet because of inaction in connection with the calling of an election to vote on school bonds in the sum of $600,000 to construct buildings on the new high school site at Broadway and Verdugo. Not until the papers are received from the office of the county counsel which now prepares them instead of the county superintendent's office, can advertising begin. At the last school bond election two weeks were consumed in the preparation of papers, but the trustees will urge all speed possible in this instance. After the papers are delivered to the board they must be advertised for three weeks in succession prior to the election, so it is probable that important civic event cannot be set earlier than a month hence.

LICENSING LAWS OF CITY TO BE PARAMOUNT

Council Sidetracks All
Business for Next Meeting

Other business of the city council will be set aside Thursday for a short while in order that the councilmen will have time to discuss in detail the license ordinance of the city of Glendale. This discussion will be held in order to effect a possible readjustment of the license situation in this city as regards the taxing of certain businesses here and the naming of the fees for these same licenses.

One of the most important items to be discussed in connection with the license ordinance will be the plumbers license and the proposal to place a license fee on real estate operators in this city. It is believed that no action on the actual revision of the license ordinance as it now stands will be taken at the meeting of the council tomorrow night. The matter will be discussed and action taken at a later meeting it is intimated.

CANDIDATES FOR HIGH SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Mrs. Gardner and Mr.
Yarrick Out to Succeed
Themselves

Only two candidates have been announced for the vacancies to be filled on the high school board of trustees, viz. Mrs. Blanch Gardner of Eagle Rock, and H. W. Yarrick, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Claud Pulliam, whose term is expiring.

ATTEMPTED THEFT OF AUTO DEFEATED

Captain McGuire of the police department reported last night that some one had attempted to steal an automobile from in front of the McIntyre apartments. He said that the attempted theft was reported to him by a man who said that he looked out of a window and saw two men trying to start a machine parked in front of the apartment house. The man making the report to the police said that he called to the men and they fled. A search for the two would-be automobile thieves was instituted but they could not be located.

LONG BEACH MAN IS ARRESTED HERE

Acting on a telephone request from the Long Beach police department, Detective Sergeants Stein and Lauritzen yesterday arrested L. Goldwater, 105 North Belmont avenue, and held him for that department.

The Glendale police did not know what charges were filed against Goldwater in Long Beach until that department was notified. They informed the Glendale police that the man was wanted on the charge of giving a post-dated check.

BANDIT GETS BULLETS

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Harry Ayala, 36, is in the morgue here today with two bullet holes through his heart, as the result of an alleged attempt to rob the Elysian Park avenue home of Cecil G. Amenta. Detective Sergeant J. C. Davis shot Ayala as he ran from the house after Ayala had fired two bullets at the officer.

THE BOARD MEETS

Miss Midcalf's Position to Remain Vacant Permanently

At the meeting of the Board of Education held Tuesday night at Intermediate school, Superintendent White reported that the papers in connection with the Edwards property purchased by the board, would soon be out of escrow.

He also reported the decision reached by himself and President Hibben that the bid of A. H. Chapman of $1003 for the house to be removed from 203 East Elk street, was a fair price for the building, and that under the authority conferred upon them by the board, the bid had been accepted.

Mr. White also stated that the house of the Turk property and the house on Milford street on the school grounds bought by the board, had been readjusted for sale, and that bids for them would be opened next Tuesday.

J. Shreve Durham, at the head of the Home Visitation work in this city, appeared before the board to ask that on March 31 the Glendale city schools be dismissed at the close of a minimum day because on that day the church census will be taken by the home visitation committee. The request was granted.

In connection with his work for Near-East relief, Rev. R. W. Mottern appeared before the board to ask that school children be permitted to bring bundles of clothing to the schools on a certain day to be designated later, and also asked permission to exhibit in the schools the "Alice in Hunderland" films. The matter was referred to Superintendent White for investigation with power to act.

A communication from Miss Ten-nie Matthews, teacher in the Broadway school, asked for a leave of absence for one month on account of her health, and the request was granted. Miss Matthews is recuperating from flu.

Superintendent White was authorized to have the Intermediate grounds and tennis court put in good condition.

The responsibility of engaging a teacher for Intermediate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Miss Clara Midcalf was delegated to Superintendent White, and the board decided not to appoint a vice-principal for the balance of the year.

Mrs. McReynolds of the Cerritos avenue school appeared before the board to ask for permission to put on May festival and pageant which will include folk dancing. After some discussion the board decided that folk dancing as outlined in the state manual of physical education and the state music manual would be permissible.

A complaint of the Central avenue school furnace having been turned in. Superintendent White was instructed to investigate its condition and report.

BRITISH TROOPS READY

LONDON, March 22 (By United Press).—"It may be necessary to throw a cordon of British troops about the troubled area along the Ulster border," Winston Churchill, minister for the colonies, announced in the house of commons this afternoon. The situation in Ireland, Churchill declared, was growing steadily worse.

OWN - A - HOME and Build - Now - Week

Paying rent is like throwing your money in the river. Of course you get something for your money when you pay rent, and so you would if your dollar bills went floating merrily down the stream to the ocean. But in either case the money is gone and there is nothing to show for it.

Rent paying is a thankless procedure or practice. Seems like the first of the month comes around every two weeks, so far as rent day is concerned—but not so with the pay check. There are so many little demands on the pocketbook between rent days that when the "big day" arrives the bank account is extremely slim and weary-looking. After the rent check is taken out you have to take a microscope to find the "leavin's." With many this is the regular monthly procedure and as a result the year as a whole is one grand and glorious round of rent-paying functions.

But look at the fellow who has the "spec" to make the first payment on a little home, trusting to his own determination and earning power to meet the others when they come due. These after-payments are seldom higher than is the rental of the average modern home. The only difference is that in paying rent the entire check is gone, while in the event of purchasing a home a portion of the check is paid back to the home-buyer. As succeeding payments are made the amount going for interest becomes less and the amount paid off the principal grows. In a few years the principal has dwindled down to the point where the home-buyer is paying practically all of the monthly-payment back to himself. Before he knows it he has the little home paid for and from that time on the whole of the monthly payment is added to his bank account instead of being paid over to the landlord. At the same time the fellow who has continued to pay rent has nothing to show but a great stack of rent receipts.

Get out of the rent-paying rut and pretty soon you will begin to see clear sky ahead. The following table of figures is worthy of consideration:

HERE'S WHAT THE LANDLORD GETS

If you pay $30 a month your rent will amount to	If you pay $40 a month your rent will amount to	If you pay $50 a month your rent will amount to

WOMAN SCALPED IN L. A. AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Lena Green Will Die
as Result of Injuries -
Received

LOS-ANGELES, March 22—Miss Lena Green suffered a fractured skull and was practically scalped as a result of a terrific auto smash in which three people were injured on West Washington street here today.

Miss Green will die, the receiving hospital reported.

Sam Epstein, 20, police officer of Venice, is held responsible for the accident. Wiltshire station police said he was driving on the wrong side of the street, exceeding the speed limit, and that he had been drinking.

Epstein suffered a broken leg, broken arm, three broken ribs and was badly bruised.

Leonard Rinsger, riding in another machine driven by Miss Green, was cut and bruised.

Dust Explosion at Olympic Cereal Plant Wrecks Building

PORTLAND, Ore., March 22.—Fire caused by a series of dust explosions gutted the three top floors of the 6-story concrete Olympic cereal plant of the Portland Flouring Mills here early today, resulting in damage estimated at $250,000.

The first explosion came shortly after 6 o'clock. By 7 o'clock the whole fourth floor was in flames and a general alarm had summoned sixteen fire companies and both Portland fireboats to the scene. The flames reached their greatest intensity shortly after 8 o'clock, firemen being seriously hampered by a series of small explosions from accumulated dust in the conveyors and the intense heat.

The entire feed department of the mill was destroyed by fire and water. Considerable stores of flour and rough grain were not touched. The mill had been working full blast for several months, and practically every storage compartment was filled with flour, feed and other mill products.

The three workmen who discovered the fire were barely able to fight their way through the seething mass of flames and reach safety. Four firemen were in considerable danger for a time when an aerial ladder swayed and snapped beneath their weight, the men clinging to window ledges on the fifth floor until rescued. The mill was built in 1919 at a cost of $800,000. The loss is entirely covered by insurance.

Workmen on the fifth floor of the building said a slight shock at the time of an explosion preceded the fire. These men barely escaped with their lives.

The building is an 8-story concrete structure, covering a quarter block. It was the cereal branch of the Portland Flouring Mills.

DR. RUSSELL AT HOOVER RECEPTION

Dr. Jessie Russell of this city attended the meeting of club women at the Friday Morning club, Tuesday, which was addressed by Herbert Hoover and reports an exceedingly interesting talk which covered many subjects—the disarmament conference, the situation in central Europe, the situation with regard to Belgian relief, the Boulder Dam project, the interpretation of the various laws and decisions which have to do with the control of the Colorado river, the unemployment problem, which he said had been solved without increased expense to the tax payer.

Town Topics

St. Mark's Guild.—The regular all-day meeting of St. Mark's Guild will be held Thursday at the Guild hall. Coffee will be served with a "pot luck" lunch. There will be plenty of work for everyone and a good attendance is expected.

Sierra Avenue Folk.—The meeting of the Sierra Avenue and Scholl Canyon Improvement association, which was to have been held Tuesday night, has been postponed indefinitely on account of so much sickness in that vicinity.

In a crowded street car the standing of a well-bred man is never questioned.

PHILATHEA CLASS OF METHODISTS MEET

The Philathea class of the First Methodist church entertained Tuesday night with a "kid" party in the parlors of the church. There were about 35 young ladies present, but from the nature of their dress their ages ranged from about four to ten. Pig tails, curls, bangs, half socks, bustier bows, Mary Jane aprons and cunning little party frocks were only a few of the many child-like costumes seen there.

Mrs. Carl Seitter, teacher of the class was very striking in her short dress, and her many golden curls tied with a huge bow.

About nine o'clock all-day suckers were passed which took the girls more than ever back to their childhood days. Such games as "drop the handkerchief," "button, button, who's got the button," "hide and seek," and many others were played during the evening. After a jolly round of games, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and everyone went home with a joyful heart after such a pleasant evening.

MRS. C. C. CARROL
IS CLEVER HOSTESS

Mrs. C. C. Carrol of 320 West Burnett street was hostess Tuesday to the Wednesday Bridge club. A very charmingly appointed luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, table decorations being carried out in peach blossoms and orange blossoms. Easter place cards were used.

The afternoon was devoted to the playing of bridge, high score being awarded Mrs. Charles Meadows and second high to Mrs. Robert Pease.

It being necessary for Mrs. Carrol to leave after the luncheon, Mrs. Meadows substituted for her. Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder and Mrs. Charles Meadows were guests of the club for the afternoon.

Those who enjoyed the function were Mrs. Frank George, Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder from Chicago, Mrs. Charles Meadows, Mrs. Claud Putnam, Mrs. George Robinson, Miss Alma Meiss, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Robert Pease.

CHAPTER A. H.
ENTERTAINED

Chapter A. H. P. E. O. was charmingly entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Worley, 541 North Jackson street. A one o'clock luncheon was served and Japanese plum blossoms were artistically used as decorations.

After this delicious repast, a Colonial day program was enjoyed, the program being in charge of Mrs. Charles Barker. Different members of the chapter brought different articles from back in the Colonial period or a little later, and these proved extremely interesting. Such things as a chair over 200 years old, quaint shaped and colored dishes and silver were among the articles brought.

Mrs. Barker gave a very interesting talk on the first architecture and the furniture that went into these homes.

The chapter entertained four guests. They were Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. A. W. Tower, Mrs. Seymour Smith and Mrs. Lee Bancroft.

FOUR INITIATED
BY REBEKAHS

The second meeting of the month of the Carnation Rebekahs was held Tuesday night in the new Odd Fellows' hall, corner of Orange street and West Broadway.

Four new members were initiated. They were Wilburn W. Stoner of La Crescenta, Mrs. Ida May Stoner of La Crescenta, George Leon Frost of 210 North Central avenue and L. G. Scovern of 1000 South Brand.

The hall was artistically decorated in the lodge colors of pink and green and this was the first initiation to take place in the new hall. There were about 25 visitors from out of town.

After the initiatory services, refreshments of pie a la mode and hot coffee were served.

The district deputy president, Mrs. Genevieve Smith was present and announced that her official visit would be made the first meeting in April at which time she will hold a school of instruction.

WOMEN'S SOCIETY
MEETS AT CHURCH

The regular all-day meeting of the Women's Society of the Presbyterian church was held Tuesday at the church. At noon a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. F. D. Rae and her committee, covers being laid for about 100.

In the afternoon an interesting program was presented. Mrs. Woodbridge Johnson from Eagle Rock, formerly a missionary to Korea gave a most interesting talk on foreign work. Miss Esther Black of Glendale told of her visit to Ellis Island. Another interesting talk on the Japanese work in Glendale was given by Mrs. Rex Kelley. The entire day was one of interest to all present.

AS THE DAYS GROW WARMER

you'll feel less and less like baking—and consequently grow more and more dependent on the baker! Then you'll appreciate the FANCY BAKERY, at 142 N. Brand Blvd.—for their goods are all home made, and delicious in flavor. I'm particularly partial to the wonderful Devil's Food cake for which Mr. Walsma is famed—for it is unusual! Rich with chocolate and spices—and generally frosted with a tempting icing—these cakes are rare treats! Then, of course if you want a lighter cake for an evening supper—just take home a Sunshine Cake from the Fancy Bakery. They are light and fluffy—made of the best ingredients and fairly melt in your mouth!

In fact, I would suggest that you make Fancy Bakery breads, desserts, a spring and summer habit—whether it be for a dainty luncheon, a formal dinner or the hearty Sunday picnic. Fancy Bakery goods are all so well baked—employing only the very finest of ingredients—and using the most sanitary methods! Try Devil's Food or Sunshine Cake—and then you'll surely agree with me—that "they simply can't be beat!"

A trim little rolling sailor of black alpaca straw boasts a halo of Japanese aligrettes, adding to its light and feathery effect.

FASCINATING AND PLEASANT are the hours you may spend at the ART NEEDLE SHOP—209 East Broadway—learning to make all sorts of fetching knitted or crocheted sweaters and caps, adorable lamp shades and nifty head bags! There are classes held every Tuesday and Friday from 10 till 12 and from 2 till 4. Drop in some time!

Truths in Epigram

Full many a flower is born to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness on the desert air.—Gray
(1716-1771).

The people's government, made for the people, made by the people, and answerable to the people.—Webster (1782-1852).

A thing of beauty is a joy forever; its loveliness increases; it will never pass into nothingness.—Keats (1795-1821).

WATSON AND ROOT

Senator Tom Watson of Georgia is again on exhibition. He cannot be regarded as a pleasing display. This time he is alleging that Elihu Root was the real force in formulating the four-power pact. The natural impulse of the public must be to ask "What of it?" For the public has confidence in Root, as an American, and as a constitutional lawyer of the first class. It has no confidence in Watson in any role in which he appears, finding him shallow, obnoxious and insincere in all.

The four-power treaty was written by Secretary Hughes. He has said so. This leaves no ground for debate. The matter is settled. Doubtless in the formulation of the document the secretary had the benefit of the opinions of his able colleagues, including Mr. Root. This aspect of the subject is of importance only because of the assertions that English and Japanese statesmen had drawn up the paper. The real matter to be considered is the nature and effect of the paper. If its terms are satisfactory to the United States and to the other powers concerned, the mere question of authorship serves only to confuse the issue. The yellow press sticks to the original falsehood. Watson seems to have developed enough gumption to realize the absurdity of such policy. He has not, however, risen to the keenness of perception that enables him to understand that a policy endorsed by Root and condemned by Watson, stands forth through these circumstances, doubly vindicated.

Watson's constant quest is for notoriety, and he has become notorious. His methods lack finesse. For a time he published a magazine not regarded as cleanly enough to be admitted to the mails. He is just through urging a series of groundless and unspeakably insulting charges against the army. He is a noise. He is in no sense an authority. His opinions are not entitled to respect. He aids the treaty when he opposes it. The country, in consideration of the benefit thus unwittingly bestowed, may as well, holding its nose the while, permit the Georgian to rave on.

IN DESOLATE RUSSIA

Stories of cannibalism coming out of Russia could not be accepted as true, save that they are believed authentic by bolshevik American journalists. It hardly is necessary to state that there are such American journalists, monstrous as their attitude must appear to the reader of normal mind.

By some singular mental twist, as these native bolsheviks record the distressing conditions in their distant but beloved soviet realm, they place the blame, not on official Russia, where it belongs, but upon all the powers save Russia alone. As they seek to stir up sympathy for the hideous Lenin regime, they ignore nearly every fact that has bearing on the situation. They never dwell on the circumstance that bolshevism acts on an inspiration similar to that stirring the rattlesnake. It is the open enemy of society. If in its rage, it sting itself to death, bolshevism alone will be responsible.

For a term of years the world has been afforded the singular spectacle of an oligarchy controlling millions of people, yet making no effort to guard their rights. On the contrary, these people were first reduced to slavery, and then to starvation. Had bolshevism sought to set up a real government instead of a bloody tyranny, it would have had the sympathy of the world. Had it endeavored to be fair and honest with its neighbors, there is no reason to think it would not have prospered. Had it been a success instead of the ghastliest failure of all history, there is none able to say that its principles might not have prevailed indefinitely at home, and spread in effective volume to other lands.

Russia proclaimed itself the foe of civilization. It made clear its purpose of destroying civilization. It spread the poison of its doctrines to every point with which it was able to establish communication. Having done this, it wonders that it has been denied the co-operation of orderly nations, the very nations that it planned to overthrow. Blame for conditions that were the inevitable result of bolshevik conduct are thrust at nations that could not have adopted any policy but aloofness, and in trying to adopt any other, would have been as rash as a bare-handed individual in grasping a venomous serpent.

ONLY ONE BOSWELL

Joseph Tumulty, for years secretary to President Wilson, has written a book, "Woodrow Wilson As I Knew Him." Unfortunately the volume is not at hand, but a copy of the criticism administered by the London Chronicle reviewer has arrived. The Tumulty work seems not to have made a hit in that quarter. It has earned for the author the appellation of "tenth-rate American journalist." To him is attributed "incorrigible vanity." According to the British critic, Tumulty has loosed the information that he was responsible for most of the acts of President Wilson.

Conceit is perhaps the last quality that should be possessed by a biographer. The reputation of Dr. Johnson rests largely upon the manner in which Boswell made record of the uttered wisdom of his superior. Boswell was a crawling, rather despicable sort of person. In his individuality there is found little to admire; but he understood his business which was the setting forth of the Johnsonian rather than the Boswellian. He accepted snubs and bullying from Johnson, but out of the contact, derived knowledge that was duly chronicled. However, there has been but one Boswell.

The writing of a biography is one of the most difficult of literary tasks. To bring to its accomplishment an intelligence that is at once perceptive, and unbiased, is next to impossible. A biography colored by warm friendship would be likely to be as inaccurate as one undertaken by an enemy. Moreover, the biographer who cannot be content to remain in the background, is not properly a biographer at all, but an autobiographer. For the latter type of endeavor—the autobiography—it is rare that excuse exists. The life worth portraying in detail must have been experienced by the exceptionally great man. Such a man generally is too busy living to set down in words his manner of living.

The autobiography deftly grafted upon a work purporting to be a biography, naturally must be devoid of worth.

POLITICAL PRISONERS

There is a considerable agitation in behalf of the release of "political prisoners." The term itself is misleading. It might be construed as meaning that the prisoner had been condemned for the holding of an opinion. The political prisoners, so-called, were condemned because in time of war they gave aid and comfort to the enemy. They thus, in instances, were guilty of actual treason. They were not tried for having said that war was wrong, but for interfering with the efforts of the United States to conduct a war into which it had been forced. Happily no more war threatens this country. The prisoners if released could not display their animosity to the government in precisely the same way. They would have to find some different method of assailing the constitution. In all probability most of them would find it without delay.

Such as are worthy of pardon, it is to be hoped, may receive releases. The cases should be examined separately, there being no apparent reason for a blanket amnesty, which would have to include such offenders as the Bergdolls and Bill Haywood. The only plea in behalf of the group as a group, that seems to have a trace of validity, is that Rose Pastor Stokes and Victor Berger, were offenders far more gross than the average of those now in prison, and the courts permitted each to slip through convenient loopholes, to immediate, and so far as ever demonstrated, wholly undeserved liberty.

The south in the vicinity of New Orleans has had a dreadful experience with a series of cyclones. These elemental freaks seem wholly beyond possibility of control. They are likely to come without warning, and their destructive power is a terrifying thing. Science has not seemed to account for the likelihood of the cyclone's appearing in one section, while other sections remain free year after year from any such visitation.

Democrats seek to de-nature the four-power treaty. Doubtless many of them are inspired by the desire to play even. In somewhat the manner now employed by democrats, republicans crippled the League of Nations, and having rendered it useless, killed it.

Once in a great while a young man manages to tame his wild oats.

THERE CAME OUT THIS CALF

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The Reverend Karl Reiland some time ago preached a sermon in St. George's church, New York, and took for his text a sentence from the Book of Exodus, "And there came out this calf."

The sentence occurs in the story of Moses' visit to Mount Sinai. While he was up in the mountain where he received the Ten Commandments his brother Aaron allowed the people to slip back into idolatry and made for them a golden calf to worship.

When Moses came down from the mountain and saw what had happened he was very angry. He smashed the idol and demanded an explanation from Aaron. Aaron's excuse was naive. He said:

"Let not the anger of my lord wax hot; thou knowest the people, that it is bent on mischief. They said unto me, Make us gods that shall go before us; and I said unto them, Who hath any gold? They took it off themselves and gave it to me, and I cast it into the fire and there came out this calf."

The incident is illustrative of a good deal of the explanation which people give of their misdoings. We are apt to give any excuse for our failings, except the fact that we are weak and foolish.

We like to give polite and easy names to our faults, but to state our virtues in explicit terms.

It is easy enough to go to church and declare with the congregation that we are all miserable sinners, that we have done the things we should not have done and that we have left undone the things we should have done.

But how many of us dare to tell the bald truth? Who wants to say in so many words that he has lied or stolen or been thoughtless and cruel?

A man who is lazy and incompetent is very quick to say that the reason for his failure is the social system or the general injustice of mankind.

The drunkard will tell you that he just took a little drop because he was not feeling very well, instead of telling the truth, which is—that he is weak-willed, has no self-mastery and proceeded to poison himself because he did not have the stamina to resist.

The weak woman with no moral character is quick to lay the blame for her wrongdoing upon circumstances or upon other people.

The employer whose arrogance and brutality have disorganized his employees is very apt to rant about the spread of socialism and bolshevism among the working classes. The envious, the idle and the vicious join readily in the chorus that curses capitalism.

The Kaiser and his junkies are doubtless very sure that all that happened in the late war was not their fault. They were just marching around trying to keep peace and to put "Deutschland uber alles," and the first thing they knew "there came out this calf."

Self-conceit, self-sufficiency and self-excuse bring many a man into hot water.

THE LISTENING POST

Speaking of what somebody has done for you. There is the alphabet. A series of twenty-six little designs. That you may look at and study as you read this Listening Post. For a good many of them are here.

Possibly before it is finished all of them will be here.

In a great number of combinations. For twenty-six letters or characters or designs may be arranged in an almost incalculable number of combinations.

If you are mathematically inclined and learned, you may be able to calculate the number of different combinations to be made from twenty-six letters.

You will find it reaches perhaps into millions. Or billions for all we know. For we have never figured it out.

But it is enough for all the pronounceable words we might use.

Enough to express all the thought of the world. Which is what the alphabet is for. To preserve the thought of the world.

The philosophy, the literature, the history, the tradition, the legend, the poetry of the world, all preserved for us in the alphabet.

And, of course, there was not always an alphabet.

Somebody "thought it out," as we say.

Without an alphabet, or something corresponding to it, we should be sadly circumscribed in the matter of knowledge.

For we should gain only that knowledge which was imparted to us by word of mouth.

We should know nothing of the world except what we might see ourselves.

Or that someone more traveled should tell us.

For there would be no such thing as writing down descriptions and facts and observations and sending them out to us by the millions.

There would be no printing presses to talk to millions of people.

The exchange of ideas would be circumscribed.

Pippa's Song—Robert Browning (1812-1889)

The year's at the spring
And day's at the morn;
Morning's at seven;
The hillside's dew-pearled;

The lark's on the wing;
The snail's on the thorn;
God's in his heaven—
All's right with the world.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

MRS. ASQUITH ON PROHIBITION
(New York World)

Mrs. Asquith came to this country as much of a prohibitionist as the great majority of politicians and employers whose influence put the eighteenth amendment into effect. That is to say, she thought as they thought—that it would be a grand thing for the poor. She returns from a quick survey of the high spots with a cry about what an awful thing prohibition is for the rich. She is at this moment prepared to sacrifice the poor in order to save the rich from drinking too much bootleg liquor.

One theory is as unsound as the other. For the real question is not whether prohibition will save one class at the expense or for the benefit of another. If it was sensible to save the poor against their will for the alleged benefit of society, it remains sensible to do so even if some people in a few big cities voluntarily make fools of themselves

The Gettysburg address of Lincoln, we will say. It would have passed from us with the passing of the last man who heard it. And even those who heard it would not be able to repeat it exactly.

The memory of men is fallible. The setting down of words in constant letters is exact.

So the alphabet has preserved for us an address that can never die.

That shall serve always to inspire and stimulate us.

By the alphabet we have imbedded the thought of the men of all ages on imperishable tablets. Even on the bricks on which the Assyrians and Babylonians and kindred people set their records we find an alphabet.

Not like ours.

But serving to set down imperishable things.

A very simple thing, this matter of printing and writing and reading.

We have come to take it as a matter of course. To pick up a book, as we say, and indulge in the delights of travel.

The stimulus of philosophy.

The glory of religion and poetry and art and history.

All by glancing at printed pages.

Somebody gave us the means by which we may know all that men have known from time immemorial.

Since there was an alphabet.

Somebody made us the means of reading Greek poetry.

Egyptian history.

Roman law and oratory.

All the knowledge of the world transmitted forever through history by a little system of twenty-six oddly shaped characters.

That may be arranged in innumerable combinations.

And serve as the taper and oil and wick and flint and steel by which the way of liberty and progress may be forever kept light and sure.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

There is much talk of economy on the part of the government. Doubtless a proper effort is to be observed in some instances, to make a working theory of economy. The appeal for cutting down expenses is not all "sound and fury." Certain men in public station mean it.

Attention often has been directed to the enormous expenditure for printing. Here is one point at which the public seems to be without official support. The vast output not only continues but is being increased. The most offensive feature of it perhaps is the Congressional Record. Into this is crammed a mass of stuff not worth putting into type. The publication bulges with speeches never delivered, and never of sufficient value to excuse delivery. Into these long-winded outbursts of nothing, are thrown torrents of figures that nobody reads or cares to see. Long, and possibly vicious, editorial utterances are incorporated with the other trash. The sentimental orator lugs in a poem that has stuck his fancy. And the public pays.

Business men all over the land are annoyed by the constant flood of government publications. They are annoyed also because so freely called upon to furnish statistics concerning their own affairs. Ultimately the statistics themselves, or official deductions drawn from them, appear in pamphlet form, to burden the mails and the office waste basket.

In the name of economy, congress seeks to cut the army to an unarticulated skeleton, deprive the navy of all value, slash needed appropriations, but printing is its fetish.

Copies of the speech of Senator Borah on the seating of Newberry are being circulated, rather tardily. It is a pleasure to read the speech, nevertheless. It proves that on occasion Borah has been right. Generally he is so ostentatiously wrong that the possibility that he could be otherwise had been questioned.

The speech was against the seating of Newberry, and was a complete showing of the iniquity of seating him. In this connection it is interesting to recall that Newberry got the place, anyhow. Everybody knew that he should not get it, but knew also that he would.

The rumor that Lloyd George is to resign circulates freely. So far as known there is no ground for it, beyond the fact that as an able man he has made enemies. When they say he is going to quit they mean only that they want him to quit.

Followers of "Isaiah, the miracle man," are engaged in a merry row over the money raised through his activities. In this emergency it is too bad that he is so feeble as to be unable to lay hands on them for the good of their souls.

The bringing of the bearded "Isaiah" was a sordid commercial scheme. He and his purported powers were exhibited on a show basis, with spellers, as though he had been a tame bear. No good has come out of the venture, but as none had been expected to come, save by hopeful promoters, there is no special reason for regret.

Human ambitions find odd forms of expression. For example, there was the man who began ten years ago to arrange for his funeral. He purchased a lot, had a vault constructed at a cost of $1500, and finally purchased a coffin. Having done all this he died a pauper, a charge upon the county. But he missed potter's field.

A New York woman testified that she had paid the pastor of a spiritualist church $500 to procure a husband for her, and yet had been obliged to go her weary way alone, with no man in the house.

The instructions were for her to concentrate while gazing at the photograph of the chosen one, and try telepathy on him at the same time.

Now that the method has been made public anybody may try it without expense.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

I feel like doing a little uplift this morning. You know how I feel. We all feel that way now and then. Sort of dissatisfied with the way things are going, you know, and disposed to grouch about 'em a bit. One can work off a dreadful spell of bad temper by a spell of talk. Anyhow, here's the uplifting thought:

"Have we given woman precisely a square deal during the thousands of years we men have been running the world?"

Maybe, mind you, it is all the fault of the women. But I don't know. Anyhow, a pair of twin sisters live next door. Their parents died when they were about the size of rabbits and they were sent separately to two different aunts. One aunt was fairly well to do and reared her twin as "nice" girls usually are. The other aunt's husband had had luck when the girl was growing up and the kid had to go to work. She got a pretty good education, of course, but she has paid her way for some years. Now both twins are to be married. The family fortunes have been somewhat recovered and they are living together next door under the chaperonage of the two aunts until the knots are tied.

Now let's assemble the facts. Twins, therefore more alike than sisters usually are. What differences there are between them have been produced by a difference in the educative processes to which they have been subjected, one would say.

The girl who worked is perfectly fine. She is bright eyed, clever, full of pep and intelligence. She can dance just as well as the sister who was reared under glass; she can flirt as well, she is as pretty and well-mannered, and in addition she has a store of common sense and savvy. Her bean hits on all eight. She can talk literature as one who understands. She knows as much of international affairs as does the average man she talks with. She goes to lectures now and then. She can shake up a cocktail, but her opinion is always worth listening to, even if one does not always agree.

The other is all sex. Her eyes are sort of stupid and languishing, even if they are bright and pretty. Her posture is always one that develops her curves. She thinks of her ankles when she sits down. The other sister doesn't. She cannot talk of anything that can possibly interest any one except a flapper or a social seal. Putting aside her curves and fragrance and the silky rustle and her bright eyes she can only be classified as a poor slob. Whereas the other is a brilliant dream.

I think the slob sister has never had a fair chance. Her education ruined her.

HYDRO - ELECTRIC POWER PLANT IS INEFFICIENT

Investigation Shows Not a Success From Point of Service or Cost

Government ownership and operation of electric light and power utilities, as exemplified by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Canada, is not a success, from the viewpoint of either service or low cost, as compared to privately-owned and publicly-regulated electric light and power companies in the United States and Canada.

This in effect is the outstanding conclusion in a report made to the National Electric Light Association by the engineering firm of Murray and Flood of New York City and just released for publication by that association. It is buttressed by a mass of contributory evidence gathered first-hand by the engineering firm in an exhaustive investigation begun on August 22, 1921, and covering the period up to February 10, 1922, when the report was presented.

The engineering firm making the report is comprised of W. S. Murray, who conducted the super-power survey on the Atlantic seaboard between Boston and Washington for the United States government, and who in addition is conversant with Canadian conditions, having acted in a consulting engineering capacity for municipal and provincial bodies, and Henry Flood, Jr., formerly engineer-secretary of the United States government super-power survey organization.

In summarizing the results of the investigation the report asserts that no system of electric service such as that operated by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario is applicable in the United States, for the reason that it is contrary to American policy and custom, and in addition is inefficient, expensive and wasteful. It shows that the service rendered by privately-owned utilities under public regulation is cheaper and better than that rendered by governmentally-owned utilities, and that even in Ontario, which has what is generally looked upon as the most successful example of government-owned utilities, private capital and enterprise have contributed more to the upbuilding of civic, industrial and commercial life than has the government-owned project.

The report states: "The facts show, however, that the electric utilities of the states hold more power in reserve and sell more energy per capita served than by that taken they can claim a greater reliability of supply and that the supply is cheaper to the consumer."

"The building of new power plant facilities under the auspices of governmental ownership, as shown in the cases of Niagara and Chippewa, both in respect to policy and cost, is not to the economic interest of the people," continues the report.

"The advocates of government or municipal ownership of electric utilities claim reduction in the cost of power in virtue of the elimination of taxes; the elimination of dividends; the elimination of high-salaried executives; and more economical wage and higher efficiency in labor scale. Taxes are not eliminated. Just as much money in taxes is paid. The difference is in their distribution. In the case of private ownership only the users of service pay the tax bill, while in the case of government owned utilities all the people pay the bill.

"Notwithstanding dividends, high-salaried executives and the wage and labor claim, the answer is, when the total operations are summed up, the people receive the power at less cost through private ownership under regulation.

"The investment of capital in electric utilities under private interest control is far better protected from extravagance than when that capital is governmentally-owned.

The investment of all the governmental agencies in electric utilities in the province of Ontario at the end of the fiscal year of 1920 was $121,232,011, concludes the report, indicating to what extent both the provincial and municipal governments in Ontario are interested in the business of generating and distributing electricity, rather than with the direct functions of government.

CORRECT NAME OF BONUS EXPLAINED BY LEGION

'Adjusted Compensation' Is Term Applied to Bill For War Veterans

As a member of the national speakers' bureau of the American Legion, formed for the purpose of explaining to the people of America what the Legion stands for and what it wants, as well as why it wants it and what it will do after its desires have been fulfilled, James M. McBryde, commander of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, has received the following statement from the national speakers' information service explaining that "adjusted compensation" does not mean "bonus" as is the mistaken idea of the average citizen. The American Legion and other ex-service men are not asking for a bonus. They are asking for adjusted compensation for the time they served in the army.

The article follows:
"Adjusted Compensation" Does Not Mean "Bonus"

A considerable portion of our people still labor under the misapprehension that the Legion advocates a "bonus" for ex-service men. Nothing is farther from the truth. It seeks an adjustment of compensation, the belated payment of a debt long overdue, in an effort to rectify in some small part the economic balance between the man who went to war and fought for a dollar a day and the man who stayed at home and fought for higher wages and got them. But on this point let United States Senator McCumber of North Dakota speak. He says:

"Any discussion of this bill, its provisions and purposes, would be lacking in fairness and justice if it failed at the outset to correct a general misnomer of the bill itself. This proposed legislation is generally referred to as the 'soldiers' bonus bill.' No name could be applied that would be more irrelevant. It is worse than erroneous. It stamps upon a just and unquestioned national obligation the designation 'gratuity.' The purpose of this bill in no sense seeks to express a national gratitude by a money gift to our soldiers. It is not so intended by its supporters and the veterans of the World War would not so accept it. It is just what its title reads, a bill to provide adjusted compensation for the veterans of the world war. It is not a bonus bill and fairness to country and soldier alike requires that we should exclude the word 'bonus' in referring to it."

Too many people still believe the adjusted compensation bill means merely an indiscriminate scattering of cash, with no strings attached, among four and a half million men. This is the result of more propaganda by the entrenched interests who contributed least to the war and got the most out of it, and who are now spending quite a slice of their war profits fighting the adjusted compensation bill. Bring home to your hearers that there are five options open to the veteran. A brief and clear analysis of each option appears on page 18 of the American Legion Weekly for December 30, and will be published in succeeding issues. Study it and read it to your audiences. Make it clear that if the veteran takes cash he gets less than if he elects any other form of benefit—home aid, land settlement, paid up insurance or vocational training. And make it plain that repeated referendums indicate that the veterans who will take cash are in the minority, despite the emergencies of unemployment which make cash in hand the greatest need of tens of thousands of jobless veterans.

The moneyed interests have fought adjusted compensation hardest, but not all capitalists by any means have participated. In the hysterical cry, so often exploded, that the passage of this bill would "bankrupt" the treasury. Read the views of a federal reserve banker whose letter appear on the editorial page of the Weekly for December 30. Clip that out and save it. Read it to your audiences and if there is a banker in the house ask him to contradict, if he can, the assertions made therein.

The Legion proposes that the adjusted compensation bill shall pass during this session of congress. The National Commander has been assured it will pass, provided it gets the proper support from the field. Local posts and individual Legionnaires the country over must keep impressing their home congressmen and senators with the fact that we expect that bill to pass now. There must be a barrage of letters and telegrams laid down on Washington when the National Commander gives the signal. This is just an advance tip. But pass the word on for all hands to be ready.

DIRECT ACTION GAS RANGE SAVES MONEY

"It may be of interest to the people of Glendale to know that they can save practically one-third over Los Angeles prices on Direct Action ranges by buying them at our store right here in Glendale," said O. J. Merrill, of the firm of Coker & Taylor, 209 South Brand boulevard. "This should be of particular interest to those who are contemplating owning their own home for the first time during 'Own Your Home' week. There are many people who have been renting places and who do not know anything about buying stoves and furniture for their home. To these people we would like to quote prices on a few of the ranges we have in stock."

The basement of this company looks like a stove manufacturing heaven—there are more than a carload of stoves on exhibition right now and others are being received almost daily. Mr. Merrill claims that the Direct Action is

This photograph shows a gathering of the leaders of the Nationalist party, headed by Mohandas K. Ghandi, who has been taken into custody on order of the Indian government at Delhi. Ghandi, who seeks to drive the British from India by non-cooperationist tactics, is in the center, wearing a white turban. And at his left—do you recognize him—none other than "Pussyfoot" Johnson, the demon prohibitionist. Johnson is interested in the Indian upheaval only to the extent of seeing India go dry, and this photograph, made in January, was obtained at the time he presented his plans to the Ghandi party for maying India liquorless.

BLACK BLOOD BASE OF PACT

RIO DE JANEIRO. (By Mail): A taint of black blood caused the double suicide of Pedro Gama, 21, and Olga de Silva Couto, 16, daughter of a prosperous merchant. Because of opposition of the girl's parents to their marriage, the boy and girl shot and killed each other.

The tragic romance, typical of Latin blood, has set all Rio talking. Pedro Gama was a "parda"—light skinned mulatto. Olga Couto was white. But in Brazil, where the color-line is at best a hazy division, this made no difference in the city's opinion of Pedro or his acceptability as an employee of the merchant Couto.

Close friendship with his employer took Pedro often to the family home, where he became acquainted and fell in love with the 16-year old daughter. All went well until the youth confided in his employer and then Couto said no daughter of his should marry any man with a trace of negro blood.

Boy and girl continued to meet secretly, however, and when Pedro was summoned for military service, the family bade him farewell and Couto promised his position would be open again when his service was finished.

Returning on leave, Gama called upon the family and was received as an old friend. Next day he met Olga in a warehouse near her father's store. Two shots were heard and the parents found the bodies.

A note left by the soldier translated read: "It had to be thus. Our love was great and Olga agreed that if she could not be mine she never would belong to another. I accept all the blame."

SAINT'S DAY IS RESTORED

ROME, March 22.—In conformity with the papal decree of Pope Benedict replacing the feast day of Saint Joseph as one of the official feast days of the church, special services will be held tomorrow in a goodly number of the churches throughout all Italy. In 1911 Pope Pius Tenth struck off the day from the official list of feasts as established by the church, but the decree met with so little popular favor that Pope Benedict restored the celebration.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

Do You Save?

"The man who does not save money cannot and will not do anything else worth while," Andrew Carnegie once wrote to a young man just starting out in life.

Do you save?

The amount you earn by individual effort will never make you wealthy or independent unless you learn to save and invest it wisely.

Begin the saving habit by opening an account at this Bank. Deposit a regular amount each week or month. It isn't how much you save, it is the practice of the saving habit that counts.

With every account of $1.00 or more we will gladly loan you free a little Home Bank which you can keep on your dresser as a constant reminder of your determination to save. You will find it a real help. Come in and get it today.

HOW THE RAVEN GOT HIS DESERTS

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

"Yes, yes! The bad old raven, certainly deserving to be punished for what he did to the poor pig. But how did any one find out if the pig couldn't tell on him? And what did Ham's boy do?" The woodsfolk just loved this part of the red dog's tale about Mister Noah's Ark. It might all be about old Daddy Crow himself; and they all knew him.

"They didn't find out," answered Pal. "Not till that evening when somebody heard him tell his wife. And it was all over and done by that time. No, it was just a happening. But it happened at the right time."

"You see, while the rest of the folks were trying to catch the poor burnt pig Shem and his wife got busy cleaning out their cabin. The pig had tipped over their beanpot as soon as he dug his nose in it—about half was spilled all over their cabin floor—so they set it out on the deck with some more of their things while they took up the carpet to begin housecleaning. Nobody really saw who gave it the shove that sent it rolling from the bow Shem built clear down the deck to the one Mister Noah made on the other end."

"But Ham had his suspicions. He grabbed his pickaninny by the ear and handed him the broom. 'You no-count half-pot of nothin'! I'll be shouted at him. 'Lessee kin you clean up dis muss as smart as you kin make hit. Git spy, now!' And they do say the youngster didn't dash to argufy. His daddy had come to close to guessing."

"But he didn't sweep. There was that old raven cleaning up those beans without any telling. And there were folks who wanted to help him. 'All the seagulls were squalling. 'That's our job! That's our job! You get the pickings from the land but the pickings from the sea belong to us. You tar-winged lubber, avast those beans till the captain turns us loose to attend to them. So Ham's boy hustled over to open their cage. 'See, heah, gulls,' he chuckled, 'you got yo' chance to quit yo' talk and 'tend yo' tendings.'

"That's what they did, too. First they attended to the beans and next they attended to the raven. rney swore at him while they tore at him so his feathers have never set smooth since then. They hauled him and they mauled him; they 'silt his galls' so you still can see

FLORIDA MAYOR LIKES MODERN STYLES

Pretty girls will not be forced "to wear foolish and unnecessary frills" on their bathing suits if Mayor Frank Fortune Pulver of St. Petersburg, Fla., has anything to do with styles. With the Purty League in his city advocating the abolition of the one-piece bathing suit and the adoption of more demure costumes, Pulver has announced that fair daisies vacationists in his city may choose their own styles. His edict made him popular and here he is shown with a bevy of pretty bathers. In the rear are Dorothy McClatchey, Montreal, and Margaret Collany, Atlanta. In front are Pauline Buhner, Chicago; Mary Grigsby, San Francisco; Mayor Pulver, St. Petersburg; May Buhner, Chicago, and Mary Bullard, Cleveland. Four of the girls serve as lifeguards.

the ragged tears in his wings. They'd have wrecked him entirely if Mister Noah hadn't rescued him. That was one time he did pay attention. "Yes, Mister Noah saved him. But was he grateful? Not he!"

PLAN IRRIGATION OF 500,000 ACRES IN IMPERIAL

Project Submitted to Congress by Department of the Interior

WASHINGTON, March 22. — A comprehensive plan for irrigating 500,000 acres more of lands in the Imperial valley of California and more than 1,000,000 acres of "high-lands" in the region of juncture of California, Arizona and Nevada, has been presented to congress for action by the department of the interior. It was framed by A. F. Davis, chief reclamation engineer. The project calls for a "high line" canal between Laguna dam on the Lower Colorado river to the Imperial valley, to reach the huge acreage of arid lands. This will cost about $3,000,000, it is estimated.

The second big feature of the project is the construction of a huge reservoir and power plant at or near Boulder canyon, at an estimated cost of $55,000,000. This would conserve the water, prevent floods and develop 700,000 horsepower, which would be sold in the surrounding territory.

All of the report is said to meet with the general approval of the seven states interested in the development of the Colorado river, with the exception of a recommendation that the secretary of the interior be given the power to fix power rates at the Boulder canyon dam. The Davis report declares problems of the Colorado river are of national magnitude.

SCOUT LEADERS HOLD DINNER

Charles B. Guthrie Acts
As Toastmaster at Jolly Affair

A banquet of the Scout leaders was held Monday night in the chamber of commerce auditorium. It was a jolly affair and Charles B. Guthrie acted as toastmaster and was a fine one.

Immediately following the dinner the speaker of the evening, Charles N. Miller, was introduced. Mr. Miller is regional scout executive. The keynote of his talk was to the effect that through the Boy Scout movement boys were taught service and that service was the foundation of all good citizenship. Rentsch of Eagle Rock; second counselor, Cloray Pinto of Tujunga; scribe-treasurer, Benjamin Robinson, Sr., of Glendale.

Where the sand storms sweep o'er the prairie crest;
Where we've rattlesnakes a plenty and vinegar roans
And the night birds whistle "Casey Jones."
Where the coyote's scarp brings fifty cents,
And the bull-bat sleep on the barbed wire fence;
Where the Mexican quail and the whip-poor-will Join in the chorus of "Steamboat Bill."
We've windmills to turn in each gentle breeze,
And cow-chips for fuel—it's burn 'em or freeze;
Dug-outs for houses and burros for a team
A life in New Mexico is simply a dream.
Where the white-faced cattle and the bronco steed
Go out to nibble the loco weed,
And the farmer subsists on beautiful scenes,
With an occasional feast on rabbit and beans.
No chills and no fever, palagra nor gout;
We look lean and hungry, but are healthy and stout;
Can eat with a relish what's thrown in our sight,
And smile and be happy—so I bid you good-night.

This was my song when on the plains
Where the west wind blow and it seldom rains.
But I decided at last my chances were best
Just out a little farther west.
So I bade farewell to New Mexico,
And headed toward the sunset's radiant glow.
Without an acquaintance or old-time pal
I finally landed in Glendale—Cal.
Where the engines whistle and autos honk;
No lowing cattle nor broom-tail bronk;
No coyote to howl near the cowboy camp.
And the moonshine's paled by the bright street lamp.
Now down on the beach where the lassies play,
Wearing nothing but bathing suits the live-long day,
Is a splendid place to while the hours
When the breeze is fragrant with the summer flowers.
Now if I take a notion I want to float
I get on board the glass bottom boat
And take a trip to the Catalina Isles—
The place of perpetual sunshine and smiles.
Then returning home to family and friends—
And this is where the journey ends.

The story is told by a certain philanthropist, who is a man of big business as well, and who is noted for his sympathy for the "down and outers."

If possible, he will give any deserving applicant for work a chance to make good.

On one occasion it is stated that this gentleman was approached by an individual so utterly disreputable in appearance that any but the philanthropist himself would have had him ejected from the office.

"Can't you find any work at all?"

The recent appointment of the Low Building company as direct factory representative of Pacific Ready Cut Homes, Inc., has resulted in a large increase in sales of Ready Cut Homes in Glendale and vicinity, and according to Manager Low, he expects to secure orders for at least 100 of this type of house during the year.

A booklet of 12 houses which can be inspected by prospective home builders is being desired. A booklet of 12 houses, 144-page book containing 100 designs of Ready Cut homes can be secured for 50 cents.

150 ATTEND LADIES AID MEET AT EAGLE ROCK

Men, Women and Children Served in Annex
of Methodist Church

Over 150 men, women and children enjoyed a generous and appetizing dinner prepared by the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church last Friday night. It was served in the annex, which had been beautifully decorated. A frieze of pepper boughs, acacia sprays, and shamrocks suspended by long stream of green cardboard, adorned the walls of the banquet room, and St. Patrick was further commemorated by napkins and favors in the shamrock design on the tables. The pretty girls who acted as waitresses wore green bands around their heads. The company joined in singing "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow," before beginning the repast.

The pastor, Dr. John Hedley, happily announced the following program after the dinner was over: Saxophone solo, Eber Slagiet, accompanied on the piano by Miss Eva Morrow; solo by Little Abbott Fisher, "Dear Little Shamrock," two humorous choruses by the choir of 18 voices; tenor solo by James Paul, accompanied by Miss Morrow; duet, Mrs. J. A. Morrow and Mr. Paul; recitations by Mrs. Paul, who also read an interesting letter from Miss Ruth Crandall, who is superintendent of the Alexandria home for girls in Penang, China. She was sent out under the auspices of this church and her letter acknowledged a box full of pretty and useful Christmas gifts which the members had sent her. Mr. and Mrs. Crandall were present at the dinner. An interesting guest was a Chinese girl who sailed from Singapore in January to attend the University of Southern California, and is making her home with Dr. and Mrs. Hedley. Having attended an English school ten years, she speaks English perfectly. Her father, a wealthy owner of tin mines, has sent his sons to England to be educated.

Rev. W. T. Gilliland, a former pastor of the church, now engaged in the Mexican settlement work at Los Angeles, spoke briefly and gave his hearers much pleasure by stating that on the first of June he and his family would move back to their home in Eagle Rock, which has been rented since he gave up the pastorate.

Mike called for a pint of beer and tossed a bright new half crown on the bar counter.

The barman looked suspiciously at the coin, weighed it in his hand, then tested it several times on the counter.

"Look here old sport," said the barman. "Where did you get this thing from? It's not a good one."

"What do you mean?" returned Mike. "Be sure it is a good one. Why, I only made the blithering thing this morning."

An old bachelor says that the greatest curiosity ever discovered was found in a woman.

Bank Building Is Rising Rapidly; Is Well Built Structure

TUJUNGA, March 22.—Mrs. Guy Barry of Palm Avenue, has announced her willingness to become a candidate for school trustee at the election to be held March 31. Many voters have felt that there should be a lady on the school board, and Mrs. Barry is acceptable for this reason as well as for the fact that she represents the western part of the district. As an executive and bookkeeper in a large concern, Mrs. Barry has had business experience and has also been a teacher for several years. Petitions announcing candidacies must be in the hands of the clerk of the board, Jud Jenkins, five days before the election date. It is believed that others will be announced during the latter part of this week.

Bank Building Rises
Work on the Tujunga Valley Bank building at the corner of Sunset and Monte Vista is progressing rapidly. The foundation is completed and material is on hand ready to start the laying of brick for the walls. A reinforced concrete vault of two stories has been partially completed and work will continue on the upper portion while the walls are being laid. The compartment on the lower floor will be used for the storage of valuable household articles, while the upper floor will contain safety deposit boxes.

The main floor is of two levels, the upper of which will be the main lobby and reception room. The lower level will be used by the bookkeeping department. Arthur Wells, in charge of construction, states that work will be pushed as rapidly as possible from now on and he expects to have the building completed within a comparatively short time.

Officers and directors of the bank are Emil Kirchner, president; Arthur Wells, vice president; G. J. Fischer, Mr. Sweet, S. D. Pierce, directors; Frank Scoville, cashier, and Robert Walker, teller.

Attend Convention
Several members of the Tujunga Christian Endeavor Society attended the county convention of the organization held at Hollywood on March 17, 18 and 19. Those in attendance from Tujunga included Mildred Roach, Adelaide Gibson, Winifred Allardice, Marion Mauerhan, Bob Smellie, Caryl White, Lauren Smith, Francis Hess, Alfred Johnson, Howard Rich.

VON KLEINSMID ASKS C. OF C. TO INAUGURATION

Suggests Delegation Be Named to Represent Glendale

An invitation to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to name several members of the board of directors or members of the chapter to attend the inauguration of Dr. R. B. Von Kleinsmid as president of the University of Southern California and the Pan-American conference to be held at the university April 27, 28, 29 was read yesterday at the weekly meeting and luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce directors. The invitation stated that this conference would be one of the most important meetings to be held in this state during the year as it would tend to create a feeling of friendliness between the Latin-American countries of the western continent and create a spirit of co-operation in social, industrial, political and economic affairs of the nation. Representatives of all the republics of South America will be present. President Obregon of Mexico has been tendered a special invitation to attend this conference and has assured the committee in charge of arrangements for the conference that he accepts with pleasure and in the event that it is impossible for him to attend the conference in person will send some member of his official family in his place. The communication requested that the directors of the Chamber of Commerce select a delegation to represent Glendale at the conference and that the list of names be forwarded to the committee immediately in order that formal invitations may be sent to each individual chosen.

Following is a list of Glendaleans chosen by the directors to represent this city: Richardson D. White, superintendent of the Glendale city schools; George U. Moyses, principal of the Glendale Union High School; L. T. Rowley, a merchant of Glendale; Dr. Jessie A. Russell, city manager W. H. Reeves and Peter L. Ferry. Acceptances to invitations to attend the inauguration of Dr. von Kleinsmid April 27, 28 and 29, are coming in constantly to the University of Southern California throughout the country. Dr. David S. Hill, president of the University of New Mexico, who is a personal friend of Dr. von Kleinsmid, has accepted an invitation to be present. Dr. Hill is known throughout the southwest as one of its leading educators. He is also the author of several books on industrial training and is an advocate for higher business training for men. During the course of his stay in Los Angeles a number of the leading clubs will undoubtedly use his services as a speaker. In this way the city of Los Angeles can use the inauguration as a vehicle to tie in the interest of the great southwest with the city of Los Angeles. Yale university has delegated Professor Raymond C. Brooks, known in Southern California because of his connection with Pomona college, as their special representative to the inauguration.

Little five-year-old Billie had been looking at the new moon for some time and finally asked, "Mamma, did God make the moon?" "Certainly," replied the mother. "I suppose," continued the little fellow, "he cut the old one up into stars, didn't he?"

REPRINT OF ARROW APPROVED BY C. OF C.

Advertising and Publicity Committee Instructed to Seek Bids

One of the principal subjects discussed at the meeting of the chamber of commerce board of directors at its weekly meeting and luncheon yesterday was the Union Pacific publication, "The Arrowhead," for March, just off the press, in which the entire issue was devoted to Glendale. Secretary James M. Rhoades informed the directors that this issue totalled 65,000 copies, to be distributed to tourists over the Union Pacific lines to California. Mr. Rhoades stated that he believes that this issue of The Arrowhead is one of the best advertising mediums that has ever been presented to the chamber of commerce. He stated that not a tourist receiving this booklet after riding across the desert for several days would fail to read about the wonders of Glendale and would in all probability visit this city to verify the statements made in the booklet. To give Glendale further publicity he proposed to the board of directors that it have several thousand of the booklets reprinted without the outside advertising matter, to be distributed as chamber of commerce literature, to people requesting information about Glendale. The matter was turned over to the advertising and publicity committee with instructions to secure bids for the reproducing of the matter in the booklet and to report on same at the meeting of the board on next Tuesday.

CHRISTIAN CIRCLE HOLDS BIG MEET

The Christian Circle met as usual at the Baptist church yesterday—74 young women gathering around the tables where an excellent supper was served by ladies of the Glendale Presbyterian church. In the count of churches it was found that the Baptist church was most largely represented. There were no special features and following the supper the customary Bible study was led by Miss Maude Soper.

Harry Carter of La Crescenta, who was in an automobile accident Monday night, was taken to the Glendale hospital and sanitarium and is getting along nicely. It is expected that he will go home today.

A colored man named Sam had worked for his boss about five years and in that time he had just about run things. His good friend Ben said to him one day: "Now, Sam, you have worked up there and made your boss rich. You ought to ask for more money or else you quit. You just go up there and tell him: 'Look here, boss, you pay me more or else.'"

Sam tried his friend's advice while sweeping the next morning. He began, "Say, boss, you'll have to gib me mo' money fo' dis job."

"Well, Sam, I'll see about it," replied the boss.

"See about nothin', you pay mo' or else."

"Pay more or else? Else what?" The boss's eyes flashed and his tone was sharp. Sam's eyes blinked as he detected his boss's anger, and in a soft voice he replied, "Else I wuck fo' de same money."

GLENDAL HIGH BOY SEEN IN 'PENROD'

Bradford Ralston Is German Boy on Screen at T. D. & L. Theatre

Bradford Ralston, who is attending Glendale High, and who formerly lived in Glendale, is on the screen at the T. D. & L. this week as "the German boy, Rudolph Kraus" in "Penrod," a dramatization of the story by that name, written by Booth Tarkington, in which "Freckles" Barry takes the role of Penrod. It was first played by him at the Egan theatre in Los Angeles as a speaking part and has since been filmed.

For years the cynics have declared that Booth Tarkington's imitable characters of American boyhood, involved in his "Penrod" stories, could never be successfully brought to the screen in one complete feature picture. They pointed out the impossibility of getting the juvenile actors that the story called for, the lack of connected sequence between the episodes and the absence of counter action to make a story of dramatic value for the screen.

Despite their protests it has been done, for "Penrod," the first National attraction produced by Marshall Neilan, which opened a run at the T. D. & L. theatre yesterday, is one of the most genuinely human, appealing and interesting pictures that has ever been seen.

A Year Ago Today

(From Glendale Daily Press for March 22, 1921)

The permanent building committee of the chamber of commerce, through J. G. Huntley, chairman, reported and recommended that the chamber lease a lot on South Brand between Harvard and Broadway and erect a building as a permanent quarters. The report was accepted.

The Glendale W. C. T. U. held its annual meeting last Friday at the home of Mrs. L. T. Brown, 213 North Louise. The forenoon was given to reports of department superintendents and the annual reports by the officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chase of Portero visited Glendale today. Mr. Chase is a former owner of the Glendale Daily Press.

Thieves broke into the Carney store, 112 East Broadway, and stole articles of clothing valued at between $500 and $600. Only the best suits and shirts were taken by the thieves who exhibited rare discrimination in the selection of their loot.
